

RAPID RESPONSE

Crisis management legal advisers available
24/7 globally

What is Rapid Response

Would you know how to react:

- if the police were knocking on the door, demanding to interview your senior executives?
- in the immediate aftermath of an explosion or serious industrial accident?
- when regulators have raided your premises and wish to remove confidential documents?
- to prevent a potentially damaging broadcast of a report obtained by an under-cover journalist?
- if you suspect your colleague may have sold shares in reliance on inside information?
- to recall your product immediately from sale in many different countries?
- to prevent a leak or stop a former employee from using sensitive data?

For over a decade, many of our clients in crisis have benefited from our Global Rapid Response services designed to prepare you; guide you through; and help you to avoid these and other emergency situations.

Our approach to business and regulatory risk management

With our network of regulatory, dispute resolution and crisis management expertise throughout the major jurisdictions including Asia, Europe, the Middle East, Asia-pacific and the US, we provide global advice, which is at the same time tailored to local legislative environments and commercial conditions. We will work with you to ensure that we give advice that complements your approach to regulatory and commercial risk, as well as meeting the needs of local law, language and conventions, all of which impact on successful regulatory and commercial risk management. We offer a practical cost effective solution to managing risks or mitigating their impact.

We have lawyers able to handle matters across the spectrum:

- Anti-corruption, anti-money laundering, fraud and asset tracing
- Anti-trust/competition
- Banking, finance services and market regulation
- Commercial contracts, outsourcing and change management
- Corporate and white collar crime
- Consumer and trading standards
- Cyber security and data protection
- Environmental and climate change
- Government affairs and public law
- Health and safety including product recalls, food safety, industrial accidents and product liability
